RECENT DEATHS.

Those Who Have Answered the Final Summons.

Monday night Mrs. Josiah Walter, of near Queen, died, of stomach trouble, after an illness of about six weeks. She had not been in good health for several years, but for the past six weeks was confined to her room and grew rapidly worse, not being able to take any solid food until Monday night, when death mercifully ended her suffering. Funeral services were conducted at the Clear church Thursday morning, June 25, by Rev. John Hollister and Rev. A. L. O'Leary. Mrs. Walter was aged 60 years, one month and eight days. She was for about 45 years a consistent member of the German Baptist church—always faithful and, unless detained by some unavoidable cause, attended church. She bore her suffering uncomplainingly although suffering intensely. The deceased is survived by her husband, Josiah, and four children, Moses W., Mrs. Fred Casar, Prof. Levi H. and Emma J., all of near Queen. The entire family was at the bedside when the final summons came. The following brothers and sisters also survive her: Jacob and George Walter, of Clearburg; David, of Fremont, O.; Barbara and Elizabeth Walter; also 12 grandchildren. She was a kind wife and mother and a respected neighbor.

Jacob Miller.

Jacob Miller, a well-known citizen of Cumberland Valley, died on Friday, June 25, at his home in Clearburg. The deceased was afflicted with cancer and recently went to Rome, N. Y., for treatment. He was 74 years old and is survived by the following children: Read, Sanford, David, Irvine, Andrew, Mrs. Debbie Oliver and Miss Katie Miller. The Cumberland County says: "Jacob Miller was one of the substantial citizens of Cumberland Valley and was held in high esteem by his neighbors. He made his living by honest, hard work. He was the last one of his family to answer the call."

George Shettig.

George Shettig, a native of Bedford county, died at his home in Rebersburg on June 18, at the age of 64 years. When a young man the deceased moved to Cambria county. He subsequently moved to Altoona, but for the past 20 years lived at Rebersburg. Thirty-one years ago he was married to Margaret Tierney, who, with three children, survives him.

James Sheridan.

James Sheridan, of Saxton, died on Friday. He was 63 years old and is survived by his wife. The deceased was a member of the Roman Catholic church.

Mrs. Sarah Enos.

Mrs. Sarah Enos, of Cumberland, died on Wednesday. She was 45 years old and leaves four children. The body will be interred at Hyndman today.

Witching Posts in Bedford.

I have read with great interest everything in the Bedford papers pertaining to the improvement of our beautiful town, the preserving and even increasing the attractiveness of the street and the public squares and lawns, for the sake of all the people of the town and county and the many summer visitors to the healing waters with which God has blessed Bedford county. I fully agree with "Nemo" in THE BEDFORD GAZETTE of June 12, that there ought to be hitching posts or rails for the horses of the country people who come to town on business and to spend their money in the stores and shops. But I do not agree with "Nemo," that hitching posts ought to be placed "on the south side of the square." I heartily second and support the suggestion of "A Nemo," that hitching rails ought to be extended along the street at the court house and westward along the "old jail" and even beyond, if need be. Perhaps also hitching facilities might be placed on the north side of the court house. This is a refined place and sheltered from noise and storm. I do not believe for one moment that our good citizens who live in the country are unreasonable, when they come to Bedford. If some of them did hitch their horses to the trees along the street leading through the square, it was not from choice, but from necessity. There was no other place to hitch. I know the feelings of the country people. I was once a country boy. They are the most law-abiding people of our land and as a rule are the best people. They have an appreciation of that which is beautiful. This we witness when we are invited to visit their hospitable homes. And they also have a laudable pride in seeing the county capital in a good and inviting condition. I am therefore unwilling to think that there is one of them who will insist upon hitching to the trees along the square, if suitable posts or rails are provided by the town council in a place as convenient as on the street along the court house and the old jail. I am glad to say I have a better opinion of the citizens of our county who live in the country than to believe that they will contend for any proposed legal rights to do as they please with the public square. As said before, they are reasonable men and have a due regard for the wishes of all that the trees and lawns in the squares should be preserved and their beauty maintained. Give them the hitching posts and they will cheerfully and gladly assent. Let the town council preserve in their efforts also to enforce the ordinance against the cows grazing upon and defiling the squares and the streets.

Called to Ohio Church.

Rev. Irvin W. Hendricks, pastor of St. John's Reformed church, Bedford, has been called to Grace church, Akron, O. The election was unanimous and the offer of the pastorate comes to him absolutely unsolicited. The congregation is a large and flourishing one, having 350 members and a Sunday school of about 1,000. Rev. Hendricks recently declined an invitation to consider the pastorate of his home church near Philadelphia. He has not yet decided whether or not he shall accept the call from the Ohio church.
